New zoning plans include provisions for 'resort' districts

BY BENNIE SHALLBETTER Staff Writer

Sweeping changes are in store for Hancock County, with zoning changes proposed that will provide two new classifications of commercial resort districts, add a new planned industrial park district, and change R-1 residential into four distinct categories. An ordinance regulating signs is also proposed.

Building inspector Mickey Lagasse said that county maps will be redrawn to reflect the zoning changes that pass, probably before the end of the year. "It is some of the strongest legislation that the county has ever proposed," Lagasse said. A public hearing to discuss the matter and gain public input will be held at the Hancock County Civic Center on Thursday, April 14 at 4:15 p.m.

Two new commercial resort districts will provide the most sweeping changes. An area bordered by Pointset Ave. and Bordage St., from the midline of Beach Blvd., 500 feet

Controversy rages over Pearlington sewer plans

BY BENNIE SHALLBETTER Staff Writer

Tempers rose and accusations were flying at a meeting of the Pearlington Water and Sewer Board on Thursday. About a dozen residents continued to question engineers and board members on their design of the collection system and on the use of grant and loan funds.

Pearlington resident Bill Fricke said he would like to see the design redone to eliminate areas of sparse population and bring service to more densely populated areas. The Gulf Coast for Kids, the coast-wide charity started by Kim and Johnny Beck, recently donated $5,000 to Hope Haven Children's Shelter for their expansion program.

The Becks started their non profit organization to help local children...especially children who are in care of the Department of Human Services and are eligible to be adopted. The Becks have put their efforts into this area professionally and personally as they have adopted children themselves.

They also provide help to local children's shelters via donations of money and toys for the kids.

Law enforcement's proposed communication network gets postponed due to high bids

BY BENNIE SHALLBETTER
Staff Writer

A state of the art new 800 system that would serve as a communication link for county law enforcement and other emergency workers won't be coming to Hancock County as planned, at least not now. The only bid for the system, from M/A Com, came in at close to $5.5 million over the original estimate of $2.5 million, at about $8 million. Supervisors voted to reject the bid.

Attorney Gerald Gex, acting as consultant on the project, asked Supervisors permission to work with board attorney Ronnie Artigues to see if bond funds could be used instead to upgrade the present high-band system.

Benefit account established for Tankersley family

A benefit account has been established at Hancock Bank to help with funeral expenses for 14-year-old Stanley Tankersley. When donating, please specify "Benefit of Stanley Tankersley." For more information, please contact Debbie Tankersley at 467-3356 or Chelsea Perniciaro at 463-9075.

Specifications for the new system written by Motorola put an estimate on the project at $2.5 million. An M/A Com representative told supervisors that the specifications called for a "cadillac model." M/A was fully compliant with the specifications put forth in the bid specs, he said, and did not pad the bid. Other competitors did not bid because it is likely they didn't feel they could bring the price down, the representative said.

In other business:
• A public hearing will be held on Friday, May 6 at 11 a.m. at the Hancock County Courthouse concerning a CDBG grant for Pearlinton.

• Lindmark Advertising representative Andrew McDonald accused building official Mickey Lagasse of "giving him the run around" on permits that would allow bill boards on Hwy. 603 and Hwy. 90. Lagasse sent McDonald to the state for permits, but when he got there he found out that he had to obtain local permits first, McDonald said. When he came back, a moratorium was in place on billboards, he said. Lagasse said no applications had been submitted for the permits.

Artigues said he would look into the matter.

• Wellman representative Wes Hammonds asked Supervisors for a tax exemption agreement for their new expansion.

• Lori Mederos asked permission to use the old Save Our Children building for a child development center. Supervisors said she could use the building, but no county dollars would be used for needed upgrades.

• Developers or individuals may not open undeveloped county roads without a formal request to the board of Supervisors. The road department will have no jurisdiction over undeveloped roads, supervisors told road manager Roger Ladner.

The ruling came as a result of a problem with McLaurin St. when developer Rodney Corr opened the road without permission. McLaurin will remain open, but must be brought up to county standards, supervisors said.

• Seabees will donate 100 pilings to the county for a jetty project west of Bayou Caddy. The pilings will be delivered and stored at Bayou Caddy until the project begins.

HANCOCK HIGH SADD SPONSORS AWARENESS ACTIVITIES In conjunction with prom week during March 28 - April 1 at Hancock High School in Kiln, the school's SADD Club and SADD sponsor Payton Ragon hosted a variety of activities to increase awareness about the dangers of drinking and drugs. Events included the display of a demolished car near the school's entrance, Grim Reaper Day, and Inside Out Day to remind students that drugs and alcohol will make you feel inside out. The school also pulled together to compete in a Powder Puff Football Game and received a visit from the Pearl River Community College Jazz Ensemble. The week's awareness activities culminated on Friday as Poylune Police Officer Darby Shelton performed his DRUM (Drug Resistance Using Music) message before the entire student body of 1,100 students. Bay man arrested; no bond in repeat drug trafficking

BY ELLIS C. CUEVAS
Publisher Emeritus

A Bay St. Louis man was arrested in connection with the possession of a controlled substance, (crack cocaine), according to Bay-Waveland Narcotics Task Force directors Bay Chief Frank McNeil and Waveland Chief Jimmy Varnell.

"On April 6, Grant Wilkerson, 20, Old Spanish Trail, Bay St. Louis, was arrested and charged with possession of a controlled substance, (crack cocaine), possession of drug paraphernalia and disorderly conduct," McNeil and Varnell said in a news release.

The chiefs continued, "Agents observed a vehicle parked on private property near the intersection of Keller and Watts in the Bay. The driver and only occupant was later identified as Wilkerson. Agents believe they disrupted a dope deal by observing a known drug user's attempt to make contact with Wilkerson."

Detectives Ian Estorffe and Brent Anderson then took Wilkerson into investigative detention. A large digital scale was discovered in the front seat of the vehicle.

"Agents then discovered crack cocaine inside of Wilkerson's vehicle and also $600 in cash, which was taken into evidence and placed in a seizure file," the police chiefs stated.

Since Wilkerson was on probation from the Mississippi Department of Corrections for a previous narcotics violation, he was transported to the Hancock County Criminal Justice Facility and placed in jail without bond, the chiefs report said.

Detective Estorffe is handling the investigation and Wilkerson's preliminary court date has been set for May 4, at Bay St. Louis Municipal Court.

Daylight Savings: Is it friend or foe?

Whenever we have a time change in Spring and Fall, I always get many comments about how they feel there should not be any 'spring forward' and 'fall backward.'

So, the latest now is that Congress is looking at extending daylight saving time by extending it by two months.

If the amendment approved by the House Energy and Commerce Committee is passed by the House and Senate, daylight savings time would start on the last Sunday in March and end on the last Sunday in November.

The House and Energy and Commerce Committee feels the addition of the two months would cut the use of electricity.

Even with the changes, we would still be having the time change twice a year.

There will still be those who still think time should remain the same throughout the year.

We were sure lucky not to have any reported injuries from the twisters that struck south Hancock County on Wednesday.

The heavy thunderstorms and two tornadoes that touched down could have been more disastrous, yet the areas struck left some heavy damage.

Along the Gulf Coast we worry a lot about hurricanes each year during the season, but tornadoes created by severe thunderstorms seem to be able to pop up any month of the year in this area.

Wednesday's Bay St. Louis Rotary Club had as guest a Rotary GSE team from Denmark and when one of the visitors was making a presentation, lightning could be scene across the water.

Later when asked how she felt about the area, she indicated did not like the lightning. Well, I for one does not like lightning and know there are lots of other folks with the same feeling.

Even with the threats of hurricanes, tornadoes, lightning and heavy rains, this is still the greatest place to live. And I have been told by many other folks they feel the same way.

It was a 'packed house,' as an old saying goes for the annual Hancock County Awards Gala held at Casino Magic's Cypress Ball Room Friday night.

In attendance were over 500 community, civic, business and industry leaders were in attendance.

Erasing state lines isn't that easy

Growing areas like the Gulf Coast, Tupelo, and Hattiesburg are dramatically different than they were a decade or two ago. Yet, some key parts of Mississippi still have unexploited potential. We can develop these areas in part by erasing state lines - by establishing communication and expanding joint economic development with our neighboring states.

Establishing Communication: Just two weeks ago I met with Senator David Vitter of Louisiana to talk about cooperation between our two states on mutual economic and environmental issues.

Mississippi Governor Haley Barbour already has laid the groundwork for interstate cooperation with his and Alabama Governor Bob Riley's commitment to pursue economic development along the extensive Mississippi-Alabama border. We hope the Alabama Legislature soon will endorse this effort, too.

Of course, there's a natural tendency to let state lines be barriers to cooperation and communication, but, when you look at a map of Mississippi, interstate cooperation makes sense. You'll notice that many of our major cities are near or practically on the state border, employing workers from surrounding states. The Gulf Coast, Natchez, Meridian, Vicksburg, Greenville, Columbus, Southaven, McComb, Starkville, Picayune, Clarksdale, and Jackson all lie within a short distance of neighboring states. In my hometown of Pascagoula, Northrop Grumman's Ingalls shipyard remains one of the largest employers of Alabamians, drawing huge numbers of workers from the Mobile area.

Recognizing mutual sites: Yet, we still have areas of Mississippi near our borders that clearly have additional potential. I see three areas in particular that can benefit immediately from interstate cooperation: Lauderdale county, Pearl River and Hancock counties, and Jackson county.

If I had to pick one area that yearns for more growth, it's East Central Mississippi and the Meridian area. Here, there is a trained or trainable work force, and there are a variety of educational institutions. Many communities would love to have the type of transportation assets this area has - rails, two interstates, four-lane highways, and one of the region's longest runways.

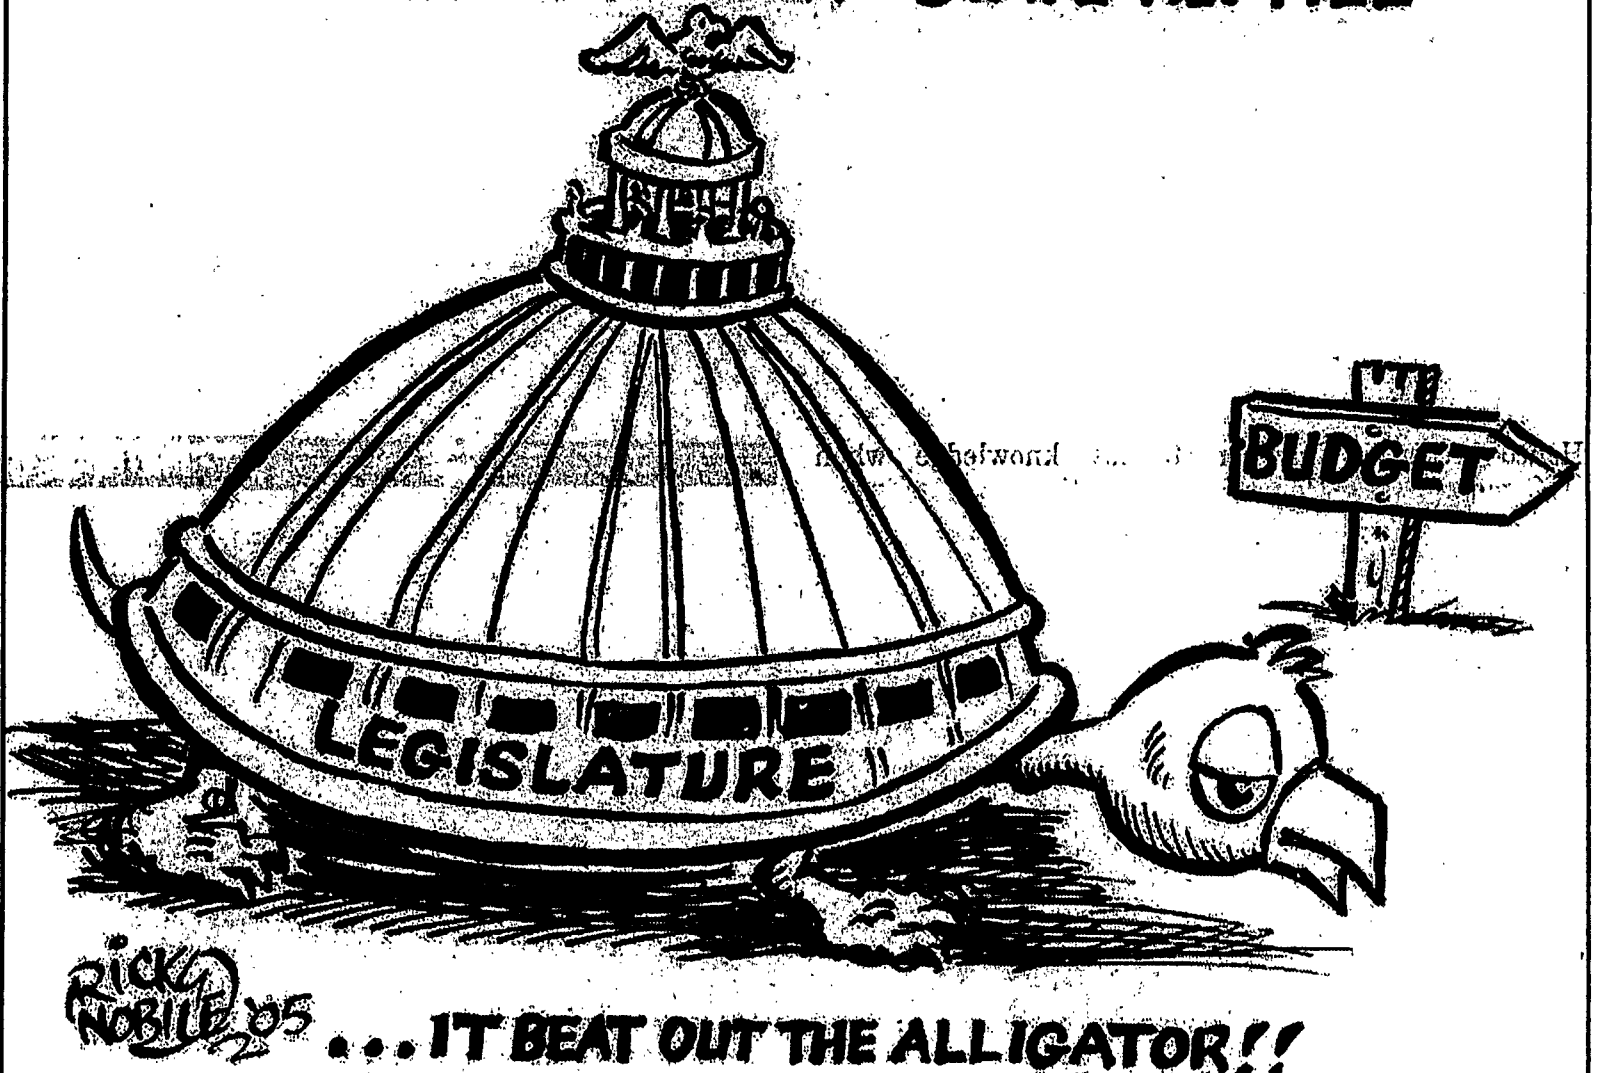

Yet, so far, job growth in this area remains stagnant.

All veterans are 'core constituents'

BY THOMAS P. CADMUS
Budget hawks in Washington circle lower and lower in deficit-spending years like this. They peer longingly at veterans. They dream up ways to cut the delayed cost of war and ease the burden of keeping America's promises to honor the sacrifices of those who served in the armed forces. A common refrain is to ask veterans to pay more out of their own pockets for the VA health-care services they earned.

This budget year, for instance, a $250 annual enrollment fee for VA health care is back on the table, as is a proposal to more than double the co-payment for VA prescriptions.

To further cut costs, leaders in Washington again are redefining what it means to be a veteran. They conjure up buzz-terms like "core constituency." Veterans in that group, apparently, are more likely than others to expect future access to VA clinics and hospitals. The "core constituency" is a smaller, less costly population of veterans. And it's convenient for future budget-makers. Because "core constituency" is not really defined in law, it can keep getting smaller and smaller until gone.

The official definition of a veteran can be found in Title 38, Section 101, of U.S. Code: "The term 'veteran' means a person who served in the active military, naval, or air service, and who was discharged or released therefrom under conditions other than dishonorable."

U.S. Code mentions no "core constituency" because a veteran may be a former infantryman who marched through the swamps of the Mekong Delta or a Parris Island drill instructor who taught him the skills to survive there. U.S. Code bonds the Black Hawk pilot who outmaneuvered daily rocket attacks and the base crew that prepped his helicopter for every mission. A veteran may be a combat cook, an Air Force fighter pilot, a

Letters to the Editor

We're losing our most cherished freedoms

To the editor:
Many Republicans are trying to silence the voice of the minority in the United States Senate. They want to change the rules and eliminate the filibuster, which has protected our voices for more than two hundred years.

This would eliminate debate and dissent in Congress, giving President Bush a blank check to push a partisan agenda and extreme judges. It would put our most fundamental values at risk by eliminating the checks and balances that keep our democracy strong.

I urge Senators Lott and Cochran to stand up and protect the historical sense of collegiality and compromise, that has made the Senate so effective over the past 200 years by opposing Senator Frist's power grab.

Lott -- state lines

There are great sites for development in East Mississippi, particularly along the state line. For my part, I've joined with Congressman Chip Pickering to help this area get federal funding for a new industrial park in Lauderdale county, and I'm ready to assist further. But I believe progress in East Mississippi will take more regional unity and coordination among Lauderdale, Newton, Neshoba, Clarke and Kemper counties, and the municipalities contained within them. This means erasing not just state, but municipal and county lines as well.

When we jump across and down the state to Hancock County, we have Stennis Space Center already attracting dozens of small, high-tech companies like Lockheed-Martin and Rolls-Royce Aerospace - all feeding off the great testing facilities and research opportunities of the Space Center. But just across the state line in Louisiana is the similar NASA Michoud Space Center which is also ripe for development benefiting both Louisianians and Mississippians. This is one of the things I talked with Louisiana officials about, along with ways we can assist one another in federal legislative matters.

Working together: For example, when lots of fresh water from the Mississippi River empties into the Mississippi Sound following severe rain or flooding, it causes the salt water line to move further south. When the river is low after dry weather, the salt water creeps northward. Too much salt water or too much fresh water are extremes which cause problems for Mississippi oystermen dependent on stable salt water oyster beds in the Mississippi Sound. I've asked for Louisiana's help in diverting some of the Mississippi River's fresh water into Lake Maurepas or Lake Pontchartrain as a way to regulate and stabilize the salination line. In turn, I've pledged my support for their federal efforts to preserve Louisiana wetlands. This kind of cooperation opens the door for additional partnerships in job growth.

Finally, in my home county, Jackson county, we've had success in attracting jobs. But we can't forget that one of the major underutilized sites impacting our area isn't in Jackson County or even in Mississippi. It's across the line in Mobile County, Alabama. The old Brookley Air Force Base which was closed years ago is a good site for development, and I'm talking with Alabama leaders about that, as well as about using Mobile Airport and its commercial airport as catalysts for development.

Mississippi and our neighbors will continue to compete vigorously for job prospects. But when we can't win a prospect, there are at least three immediate areas on either side of our borders where we can work together, and there are a lot more areas along our state lines with similar potential.

When it comes to preserving or winning jobs, we should work to erase state lines whenever possible. Senator Lott welcomes any questions or comments about this column. Write to: U.S. Senator Trent Lott, 487 Russell Senate Office Building, Washington, D.C. 20510.

Coast Guard sea marshal, corpsman, paratrooper or chaplain. Private or a general. All their roles are interwoven, all potentially fatal in times of war. When discharged, they are veterans. It's that simple.

Such was the thinking behind the Veterans Health Care Eligibility Reform Act of 1996. That was the law Congress passed to allow all veterans access to VA health-care services. In early 2003, a woefully under-funded VA suspended new enrollment of veterans in Priority Group 8, the largest and fastest-growing group, and the law's intent went into budgetary free-fall. In late 2004, outgoing VA Secretary Anthony Principi indicated that Group 7s could meet a similar fate. Now, the 2006 budget proposal would restrict VA nursing-home care only to veterans in Priority Groups 1 through 4. Five through 8s would be drummed out of the "core".

The core constituency, if these proposals are adopted, will get smaller and smaller. Veterans outside it will be blamed for over-using their VA health-care benefits in the past, causing the problem. Blame is more correctly placed on a discretionary funding process that has never adequately synched money with needs.

If any of this concerns you - a $250 enrollment fee, double prescription costs, continuous redefinition of veterans, new limits on who can get care and who cannot - contact your congressional representatives. Tell them a veteran is a veteran. The definition can be found in U.S. Code. Remind them that they themselves passed the law in 1996. If their intention now is to repeal that law, then let's see some legislation. The American Legion will be more than happy to enter that debate.

Thomas P. Cadmus is national commander of 2.7 million-member American Legion, the nation's largest wartime veterans organization.

Two proclamations dealing with the reduction of crime on a national scale were issued during the April 4 meeting of the Bay St. Louis city council.

Both National Child Abuse Prevention month and National Crime Victims' Rights Week fall in April. Similar proclamations were read last week at The Hancock County Board of Supervisors and the Waveland City Council.

Crime victim's rights week will run from April 10 to 16. According to Frank McNeil of the Bay St. Louis Police Department, this year's theme is "Justice Isn't Served Until Crime Victims Are."

According to a proclamation issued by Eddie Favre, the crime victim assistance program has grown exponentially since 1981 to over 10,000 community and justice system-based programs, and 32,000 federal and state statutes that define and protect victims' rights.

"As individuals, as communities and as a Nation, we value justice in America that includes and involves crime victims, and seeks to serve justice by serving victims of crime," Favre stated.

There will be a meeting at the First Presbyterian Church in Gulfport on Tuesday, April 12 at 10:30 a.m.

"Safe Children and Healthy Families are a Shared Responsibility" is the theme of this year's child abuse prevention month. A community resource packet called for increased cooperation between community organizations and families.

"The societal malignancy called child abuse respects no racial, religious class or geographic boundaries, and in fact, has been declared a national emergency," Favre stated.

Spring boating safety checklist

THE SEA COAST ECHO
To help boaters have a trouble-free summer boating season, BoatUS, the nation's largest recreational boating association, has a spring commissioning checklist.

Whether you have a power or sailboat, inboard or outboard, following this checklist is an easy way to get ready for the boating season.

Before you launch:
Inspect and lubricate seacocks. Hoses and hose clamps should be inspected and replaced as necessary. Replace deteriorated zincs.

Inspect prop(s) for dings, pitting and distortion. Make sure cotter pins are secure. Grip the prop and try moving the shaft - if it's loose, the cutlass bearing may need to be replaced.

Check to make sure the rudderstock hasn't been bent.

Inspect the hull for blisters, distortions and stress cracks.

Make sure your engine intake sea strainer is free of corrosion and properly secured.

Check the engine shaft and rudder stuffing boxes for looseness. After the boat is launched, be sure to check these as well as through-hulls for leaks.

Use a hose to check for deck leaks at ports and hatches. Renew caulk or gaskets as necessary.

If equipped, ensure that stern drain plug is installed.

Outdrives and outboard engines:

Inspect rubber outdrive bellows for cracked, dried and/or deteriorated spots (look especially in the folds), and replace if suspect.

Check power steering and power trim oil levels. Replace worn-out zincs.

Inspect outer jacket of control cables. Cracks or swelling indicate corrosion and mean that the cable has to be replaced.

Inspect fuel lines, including fill and vent hoses, for softness, brittleness or cracking. Check all joints for leaks and make sure all lines are well supported with non-combustible clips or straps with smooth edges.

Engines and fuel systems:

Inspect fuel tanks, fuel pumps and filters for leaks. Clamps should be snug and free of rust. Clean fuel filters.

Inspect cooling hoses and fittings for stiffness/rot, leaks and/or cracking. Make sure they fit snugly and are double-clamped.

Every few years/ remove and inspect exhaust manifold for corrosion.

Clean and tighten electrical connections/ especially both ends of battery cables.

Wire-brush battery terminals and fill cells with distilled water.

Inspect bilge blower hose for leaks.

Sailboat rigging:

Inspect fittings for cracks and rust. Inspect wire halyards and running backstays for "fishhooks" and rust.

Remove tape on turnbuckles and lubricate threads/ preferably with Teflon. Replace old tape with fresh tape.

Recaulk through-deck chainplates as necessary (generally/ once a decade).

Trailers:

Inspect tire treads and sidewalls for cracks or lack of tread and replace as necessary. Check air pressure. Don't forget the spare!

Inspect bearings and repack as necessary.

Test tail and back-up lights. Test winch to make sure it's working properly.

Inspect trailer frame for rust. Sand and paint to prevent further deterioration.

Miscellaneous:

Check expiration dates on flares and fire extinguishers.

Check stove and remote tanks for loose fittings and leaking hoses.

Inspect bilge pump and float switch to make sure it's working properly.

Inspect dock and anchor lines for chafing.

Update or replace old charts/ waterway guides.

Check shore power cable connections for burns/ which indicates the cable needs to be replaced.

Make sure your boating license and/or registration is up to date. Don't forget your trailer tags.

Review your boat insurance policy and update coverage if needed. Be sure you have fuel spill insurance coverage.

Make sure you have a properly sized and wearable life jackets in good condition for each passenger/ including kids and pets.

The checklist is also available at www.BoatUS.com/freebies.

Inc., Hancock County Business of the Year.

The Hancock Tourism Development Bureau honored Bonita Favre and her late husband Irvin Favre with the "Tourism Person (Family) of the Year Award." Bonita Favre accepted the award and praised her family, including sons Brett and Jeff, for their efforts in helping worthy causes and drawing so many new people into the area.

Tourism Development

Bureau Executive Director Beth Carriere also presented the Tourism Industry Business of the Year award to Stacey and Maurice Necaise of Southern Promiseland Farm, whose 10-acre corn maze drew thousands of tourists to the area last year. This year, she said, the Necaises have partnered with the Disney company for an even more extraordinary display in the fall.

Hal Walters, executive director of the Hancock Port & Harbor Commission, presented the Industry of the Year award to Kevin Pokallus of Hot Sticks Manufacturing Company; and a special Award of Excellence to Dave McDonald, who recently stepped down from the commission after 30 years of service.

Zoning -- resorts

back into Clermont Harbor, is proposed to be re-zoned to C-3 commercial resort district from C-1 neighborhood commercial.

The C-3 classification would allow such projects as hotels, condos, restaurants, retail facilities, recreational vehicle parks, apartments and like uses. Height restriction on these areas would be 50 feet (about five stories) for businesses such as restaurants or retail shops, but condos, hotels, or other businesses that are required to submit a master plan will be allowed to build to a height of 200 feet (about 20 stories).

An area bordered by Poinset Ave., Bayou Caddy, the midline of Beach Blvd., and the railroad tracks, is proposed to be changed to a C-4 commercial resort district from C-2 commercial and A-1 agricultural. The C-4 classification would allow unlimited height and density restrictions for the same businesses allowed in the C-3 area. Both classifications will require a maximum of 70 percent of impervious, or concrete surfaces. Lot sizes for C-3 districts must be a minimum of 8,000 sq. feet and C-4 lots must be minimum of 10,000 sq. feet. Required set backs will vary with height and location.

The commercial resort zoning will not include casinos. Casinos will still be required to apply for a special use district for gaming and be subject to public hearing. Condo, hotel, and like projects will be required to submit a master plan before permits would be issued.

Copies of the proposed zoning amendments are on display at all branches of the Hancock County Public Library, the Supervisors office at the Hancock County Courthouse, and at the Chamber of Commerce.

more sparsely populated areas could be serviced later, Fricke said.

Compton engineer Bob Echer, the designer of the system, told Fricke that lines for the three phases could not be changed without jeopardizing funding. "We have been over this before," Echer said. "Do you want me to eliminate everyone south of Hwy. 90? Get the board to pass a resolution and I'll do it tomorrow." Bay St. Louis resident Tony Dixon, who represents the Pearlinton citizen's group, said current district engineering firm Compton had suddenly appeared on the scene with no records of why or when the decision had been made to hire them. A member of the citizen's group said that in 1998 another engineering firm had estimated a system for Pearlinton would cost $5 million. Estimates on the present system are close to $7 million, he said.

Another Bay St. Louis resident, Paul Stewart, said he was representing his mother and asked the board to consider placing monitoring or metering devices at each home to measure use. A basic fee to cover costs could be charged to everyone and then another per-use fee could be charged above that, he said. It is not fair for a single person to pay the same service fee as a family of ten, he said.

Questions were also raised about audits in the district. Only one audit, in 1998, has been completed because "there" were not enough funds in the district account to merit the expense of an audit until this past year, said board attorney Mike Haas Jr. An audit is being performed for the 2003/2004 fiscal year, said board president Ronnie Cuevas.

Veiled accusations continued to fly implying the alleged misuse of funds and the alleged rigging of collection phase lines to benefit board members, especially Cuevas, who owns 147 acres on Kelly Rd.

"Yes I own 147 acres and 137 of them are marsh - would you like to buy them," said Cuevas. "And Mr. Fricke owns even more property down there than I do. He wants to build a subdivision."

A representative from Congressman Gene Taylor's office, Chris LaGarde, told the group that if they suspected wrong doing then they should take the matter to the attorney general's office.

"We already have and they are looking into it," said Dixon.

"Then you need to let these people conduct their business, LaGarde said.

Hancock Library offers keycards to customers beginning Monday

THE SEA COAST ECHO

Using the smartest card you have -- your Hancock Library card -- just got easier. Beginning April 11, stop in any local library branch -- Bay St. Louis-Hancock County, Kiln Public Library, Pearlinton Public Library or Waveland Public Library -- and ask for a library keycard. If you need to open a library account, customer service representatives will help you apply for one.

"Our new library keycards will make it easier to access library services," says Prima Plaque, Hancock County Library System Director.

"Whether you're checking out the latest bestseller, researching your college term paper, getting the latest health information or using the Internet, the library has the resources and staff to help you find what you are looking for."

"Our library system is a convenient center for information, education and entertainment where the whole community comes together," said Prima Plaque, Hancock County Library System Director. "From preschool story hour to homework help, from academic research to special collections, our libraries are the place to be."

Plaque adds that our library staff are experts in navigating through the clutter of information that's out there. "Our staff is really the ultimate search engine at your library. If you need to find something, just ask."

In celebration of National Library Week, the Hancock County Library System will host the following events:

Coffee Hour @ Your Library -- Coffee, orange juice and cookies will be available at all branches of the library system -- Bay St. Louis-Hancock County, Kiln Public Library, Pearlinton Public Library and Waveland Public Library from 9 to 11 a.m.

National Library Week will be the theme at the children's story hours on Tuesday, April 12, at 10:30 a.m. at the Waveland Public Library; Wednesday, April 13, at 10:30 a.m. at the Bay St. Louis-Hancock County Library; and on Thursday, April 14, at 10:30 a.m. at the Kiln Public Library. Through the "Girl in Hyacinth Blue" is the topic of a reading and discussion program sponsored by the library system and The Arts, Hancock County on Tuesday, April 12 at 7 p.m. at the Bay St. Louis-Hancock County Library. Leah Holmes is the facilitator for the program. The program is partially funded by a Mississippi Humanities Grant.

National Library Week is April 10-16. National Library Week 2005 marks the fifth year of The Campaign for America's Libraries. The campaign intends to increase awareness about the vibrancy and real value of today's libraries. It is designed to showcase public, school, academic and special libraries nationwide.

For more information, including library hours, visit or call any of the branches of the Hancock County Library System: Bay St. Louis-Hancock County Library, 467-5282; Kiln Public Library, 255-1724; Pearlinton Public Library, 533-0755; or Waveland Public Library, 467-9240, or see the library's Web site at www.hancock.lib.ms.us.

Shoultz conducts First Responder Class

Bay Saint Louis firefighter and registered nurse Rusty Shoultz recently concluded a 56-hour course for medical first responders. This course, normally 40-hours long, is required prior to admittance to the State Fire Academy. All class members completing the course are eligible to sit for the National Registry Exam, administered by the same board that certifies paramedics and EMTs.

Twelve firemen and a Tulane University doctoral student, a member of the search and rescue team, attended the class the Bay Saint Louis Fire Department. Firefighters were from Waveland, Picayune and Pass Christian departments. From the Bay St. Louis Fire Department, firefighters Matt Whitman, Elliott Edwards and recruit firefighters Robert Palmisano, Michael Gros and Linwood Rutherford attended.

Subjects for the course included patient assessment, airway management, basic incident command, handling mass casualties, management of medical emergencies, handling trauma victims and basic vehicle rescue.

It took the Bay Saint Louis Fire Department several months to establish its credentials to deliver the training and was approved by the Mississippi Department of Health Bureau of Emergency Medical Services. Shoultz, an eight year veteran of the local department, is a certified fire service instructor, EMT and registered nurse.

"We are fortunate enough to have a local firefighter with this additional experience who can give quality classes at home, making it convenient and financially feasible for our small departments to keep our personnel well trained," said Chief Robert Gavigne. The students completing the class will be taking their national registry certification exam at the Bay Saint Louis depot Thursday, April 14. The exam will be administered by the Mississippi Department of Health Bureau of EMS.

Steak Night at Legion is Friday

American Legion Post 139, Green Meadow Rd., Bay St. Louis, will host Steak Night this Friday, April 15, 5-8 p.m. Steak dinner is $10. Happy Hour is 4-6 p.m.

Learn to lose weight in HMC's 10-week series

Wanting to look a little slimmer in that summer wardrobe? Hancock Medical Center will repeat its 10-week series on weight management beginning Monday, April 25.

"LEARN" is an acronym for Lifestyle, Exercise, Attitude, Relationships and Nutrition. Each letter represents a component of the weight loss challenge, said registered dietitian Dawn Vosbein.

This program is tailored to each individual's problem area, she said. "One person may eat very little during the day, but uncontrollably at night. Another may snack throughout the day and not even realize it."

Each class member will be asked to establish eating and activity habits by keeping a log during the initial phase of the seminar. Vosbein will tabulate caloric intake and assess activity level based on the information provided.

"We want to set individual goals and develop a plan for each participant to reach his or her goal. An important part of this series focuses on changing behavior to sustain weight loss."

Other components of the classes include recipe modification, how to incorporate exercise into a daily routine and the psychological aspects of maintaining a weight loss program.

The three-month program is offered from noon until 1 p.m. on the Hancock Medical Center campus. Classes will run through June 27. The cost is $75 and includes a 300-page workbook and various handouts. An initial medical screening for each participant will be conducted at the beginning of the series. To register, call Vosbein at (228) 467-8790.

Taxpayers puzzled by lack of budget

BY EMILY WAGSTER
PETTUS
ASSOCIATED PRESS WRITER

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—The day after the 2005 legislative session ended without a state budget, teacher Jennifer Shuster helped lead a group of fourth-graders on a tour of the state Capitol.

Shuster said she couldn't understand why lawmakers adjourned without completing their most important duty.

"Without a budget, we just can't breathe easy yet," said the teacher from Martin Bluff Elementary in Gautier.

School superintendents across the state face an April 15 deadline to offer contracts to teachers for the coming school year. Shuster, who has been teaching 12 years, said she's confident she'll be rehired, but she's worried about some educators with less seniority.

Some administrators say they're in a bind because they don't know how much money their districts will have and how many teachers they can afford to keep.

Directors of other state programs, from Medicaid to mental health, are also left wondering about what kind of money they'll have when the new budget year starts July 1.

Gov. Haley Barbour will call lawmakers back for a special session, but he hasn't set a date. After the regular session expired at midnight Wednesday, the governor said only that it would be "a while" before he summons the 174 lawmakers back to the Capitol and he's hoping for "a brief and productive special session."

Budget talks between the House and Senate collapsed amid a dispute over how much of the projected $3.8 billion in state revenue will go to elementary and secondary education versus how much will go to other services such as prisons, universities, community colleges and debt repayment.

The House was pushing to put as much as possible into public schools, while the Senate said House proposals would gut other agencies.

The two chambers also feuded over how much to rely on built-in deficits, millions of dollars of budget holes that will have to be plugged during the 2006 regular session.

Rep. John Mayo, D-Clarksdale, sends frequent e-mail updates to constituents and others. He wrote Thursday: "I have gotten a number of letters overnight that we have shirked our responsibilities, and I agree."

Newspaper editorial writers around the state started criticizing lawmakers before the budget breakdown was even complete.

On Wednesday, when lawmakers had given themselves extra time to try to resolve their differences, the Hattiesburg American wrote: "When the 2005 legislative session began in January, lawmakers knew they didn't have enough revenue to cover all the requests in the budget. Given this fact, they also knew they were going to be forced, gulped, to compromise to reach agreement. But sadly, compromise has been in short supply during the session."

In Thursday's edition, The Natchez Democrat noted that lawmakers found time to meet with celebrities and name a state reptile during the three-month session.

"Here's what they apparently haven't had time for: approving a budget in a timely manner, just about the most important thing we really need them to do in their three-month regular sessions each year."

Baxter to serve as MYB vice president

John Baxter has been elected vice president of the governing body for a statewide banking organization. As vice president, he will serve on the Executive Council of the Mississippi Young Bankers, a section of the Mississippi Bankers Association.

Baxter has previously served as treasurer, as an at-large board member, and as an area representative on the Executive Council.

Baxter was elected at the MYB's annual convention, held March 16-20 in Point Clear, AL. MYB serves as the educational arm of the association, conducting programs for students around the state on topics such as saving, budgeting and more.

Baxter, who works at Hancock Bank in Gulfport, serves as vice president/manager of the Institutional Banking Group for the bank's Gulf South market. He has worked at the bank for ten years, previously working in the bank's marketing and trust departments and as a branch manager.

Baxter earned a bachelor's degree from the University of Mississippi. He also completed the Cannon Financial Institute's Financial Sales School. He is pursuing a degree from the Graduate School of Banking at Louisiana State University, where he serves as vice president of his class.

Baxter is active in the community. He is a past president of the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce. He is a graduate of Leadership Gulf Coast and serves on its board of directors. Baxter also serves on the boards for the Hancock Medical Center Foundation, the St. Stanislaus High School Alumni Association, the United Way of South Mississippi and the Executive Committee of the Hancock County Chamber.

Baxter and his wife, Jeanne, have a 2-year-old son, William, and a newborn daughter, Rebecca. They attend Our Lady of the Gulf Church.

New law allows casinos to build permanent pilings

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—A new state law allows Mississippi's floating casinos to build permanent pilings so the barges can be stabilized in hurricanes and other strong storms.

Gov. Haley Barbour signed a bill into law Wednesday, and it took effect immediately.

The new law does not allow inland gaming. Casinos are still limited to areas along the Mississippi Sound and along the Mississippi River or its tributaries.

An early version of the bill would have required the state Gaming Commission to publish a map showing exactly where casinos may be developed along the Gulf Coast. That provision was removed before the bill went to the governor.

Barbour this week also signed a bill that raises the levels of minimum automobile liability insurance coverage.

Starting Jan. 1, the new law will increase from $5,000 to $25,000 the amount of liability insurance coverage required to pay for damages to vehicles and other property in an accident. It will increase from $10,000 to $25,000 the coverage needed to pay for injury or death of one person, and from $20,000 to $50,000 for injury or death involving two or more people.

Some lawmakers said the current liability insurance coverage requirements are inadequate. Opponents of the changes said the higher coverage requirements will drive up the costs of auto insurance.

Mississippi drivers are required to have liability insurance. Motorists found without proof of insurance can be fined up to $1,000. However, that fine can be reduced to $100 or waived if drivers later show a judge they have the insurance.

Economic impact study to be released at USM Gulf Park Wednesday

Southern Miss President Dr. Shelby Thames will discuss the university's increasing presence on the Mississippi Gulf Coast prior to the Harrison County Development Commission's "State of the Coast Economy" report on Wednesday, April 13.

The 2004 "State of the Coast Economy" report will be presented at 8:30 a.m. at the Southern Miss Gulf Park Advanced Education Center Auditorium. Its topics include population, income, employment, industrial and commercial development, housing, retail trade, tourism, gaming and transportation on the Gulf Coast.

For information on attending the presentation, contact Kim Compton at (228) 865-4535.

Jerry West, left, a long time athlete of the Stennis Space Center Special Olympics program, walked away with two ribbons once again this year. One, first place in the standing long jump and then second place in the 50 yard dash. He and all athletes train several months in advance and take this very seriously. He is truly an inspiration to many and his family and close friends are very proud. His ribbon is being placed by one of the many volunteers.

Pass in the Night to kick off Saturday

The first "Pass in the Night" event, happening on this April 16, will take place on the east side of downtown Pass Christian beginning at St. Paul Catholic Church, extending eastward and on to Davis Avenue and turning west on Second Street to St. Paul Street.

The evening's event will begin with a parade at 5 p.m. with activities lasting until 8 p.m. "The Pass in the Night" will include activities and things of interests to all ages. The agenda includes great food, beverages, music and entertainment.

Baxter attends ceremony to observe anniversary of Bataan Death March

BY HOLBROOK MOHR
Associated Press Writer

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—History records it as the Bataan Death March, a 60-mile trek across the Philippines in which casualties were counted by the thousands and survivors witnessed almost incomprehensible brutality.

On Saturday, the 63rd anniversary of the beginning of the Bataan Death March, the Mississippi Armed Forces Museum at Camp Shelby honored the veterans who were taken prisoner in the Philippines during World War II.

A handful of survivors of the Death March and subsequent Japanese imprisonment from Mississippi, Louisiana and Alabama attended the ceremony. Estimates of the number of prisoners killed by Japanese captors during the Bataan Death March vary from 7,000 to 10,000.

Prisoners who collapsed en route to prison camps, without food or water, were shot or stabbed to death with bayonets. Thousands of other soldiers would die before the war's end after being shuffled to encampments in Japan, Korea or China.

The surviving soldiers are a dwindling source of firsthand knowledge of one of the most horrendous periods of the war.

Joseph C. Baxter of Bay St. Louis, who escaped the Death March and waged a guerrilla war with a band of Filipino resistance fighters before being captured, said there are only a few hundred survivors of the Philippine camps still alive.

Baxter, 86, told The Associated Press that he has been trying for years to increase awareness about sacrifices made in the Philippines, the torture endured by the Allied forces, and the determination of American soldiers.

The ceremony will be held at the same base where Baxter's military life began. In 1940, he trained at the National Guard base south of Hattiesburg before being shipped out to the Philippines.

Baxter said only about half of the Americans who served in the Philippines survived. Those who did make it were subjected starvation, beatings and torture.

"We were tied to the bumper of a truck in single file with ropes around our necks and we were paraded down the boulevard in Manila with a sign attached to the truck that said 'we were bandits,'" he recalled. "They took us to the dungeons of Fort Santiago where I was beaten and interrogated. My eye was put out by a cigarette butt."

Milton McMullen, who now lives in Madison, was assigned to the Army Air Corps 19th Bomb Group along with Baxter when he was captured in the Philippines. McMullen said only about 25 of the unit's 350 soldiers survived the war. Today only four are living.

McMullen, 84, said he was injured by bombers, hidden in a village and nursed back to health for about three months before he was captured. He, too, avoided the infamous Death March but he did not escape the ferocity of the Japanese prison camps.

"When you start seeing about 90 men a day dying, it gets pretty tough," he said. "I don't think most people, not even my own family, realize what really happened."

Both men were at Camp Shelby for the ceremony.

Maj. Gen. Harold Cross, adjutant general for the Mississippi National Guard, was the featured speaker. A mural by Mississippi artist Corretta Douglas commemorating the anniversary of the Bataan Death March was also unveiled.

Bay-Waveland Yacht Club begins Wed. racing series

The sailors at Bay-Waveland Yacht Club will begin their Wednesday Night Racing Series next week on April 13. The series was to have begun this past Wednesday, April 6, but the weather didn't cooperate and there was too much wind.

Sailboats of any class may enter these races. Each class of boat is assigned a handicap that allows all entries to have an equal chance of winning a race.

The racing is relaxed and family oriented, and can be enjoyed by young and old alike.

The point is to have fun, but stay safe.

After each race a distinctive BWYC Wednesday Night T-shirt is awarded to the winner of that race, and a buffet dinner is served in the dining room starting at 6:30 p.m.

The series will start this coming Wednesday and continue until daylight savings time ends in October.

Becky Kotula and Nathan Middleton

Kotula-Middleton

Becky Kotula and Nathan Middleton along with their parents Sarah Middleton of Bay St. Louis, MS, and Nathan Middleton Picayune, MS, and Jerry and Glenda Kotula of Browerville, Minnesota, are pleased to announce their upcoming marriage.

The prospective bride attended Moorehead State University and is pursuing her masters degree through St. Cloud State University.

She is currently employed by Sunny Fresh Foods of Cargill, MN.

The prospective groom is a graduate from St. Stanislaus.

He attended Moorehead State University and is presently employed by Toyota City, Brooklyn Park, MN.

The couple will be married on April 16, 2005, at 3 p.m. at Our Lady of the Lake in Big Lake, MN.

Pass Christian science teacher earns Toyota grant

Toyota and the National Science Teachers Association (NSTA) awarded Randy Reed, a science teacher from Pass Christian Middle School, a Toyota Tapestry mini-grant of $2,300 for excellence and innovation in science education for his program titled "Classroom Feeder Watch."

Reed was one of 27 U.S. teachers awarded the prestigious grant from NSTA. "Toyota values education and believes it is the foundation for personal achievement, social well-being and economic success," said Michael Rouse, corporate manager of philanthropy and community affairs for Toyota. "The winning programs this year truly exemplify the spirit of the Toyota Tapestry grants which is to foster creative and novel ways of presenting science."

2005 marks the 15th anniversary of the Toyota Tapestry grant program. In that time, the program has awarded over $6.5 million in grants to 750 teams of teachers. The milestone was commemorated at the NSTA National Convention in Dallas, where Toyota donated a Prius to be given away in a drawing. Proceeds from the drawing will benefit NSTA's City Science program supporting professional development opportunities for urban science teachers nationwide.

Sponsored by Toyota Motor Sales, U.S.A., Inc. and administered by NSTA, Toyota Tapestry is the largest K-12 science teacher grant program in the United States. Toyota awards grants to deserving kindergarten through twelfth-grade teachers each year. Award-winning projects demonstrate creativity, involve risk-taking, and possess a visionary quality. Projects are selected from three critical areas for today's youth: environmental and physical science, and science applications that promote literacy. Fifty grants of up to $10,000 are awarded each year, along with a minimum of 20 mini-grants of up to $2,500 each year. In total, Toyota awarded grants totaling $548,400 to 77 teachers across the country in 2005.

Watercolor painter at Pass Art Assoc.

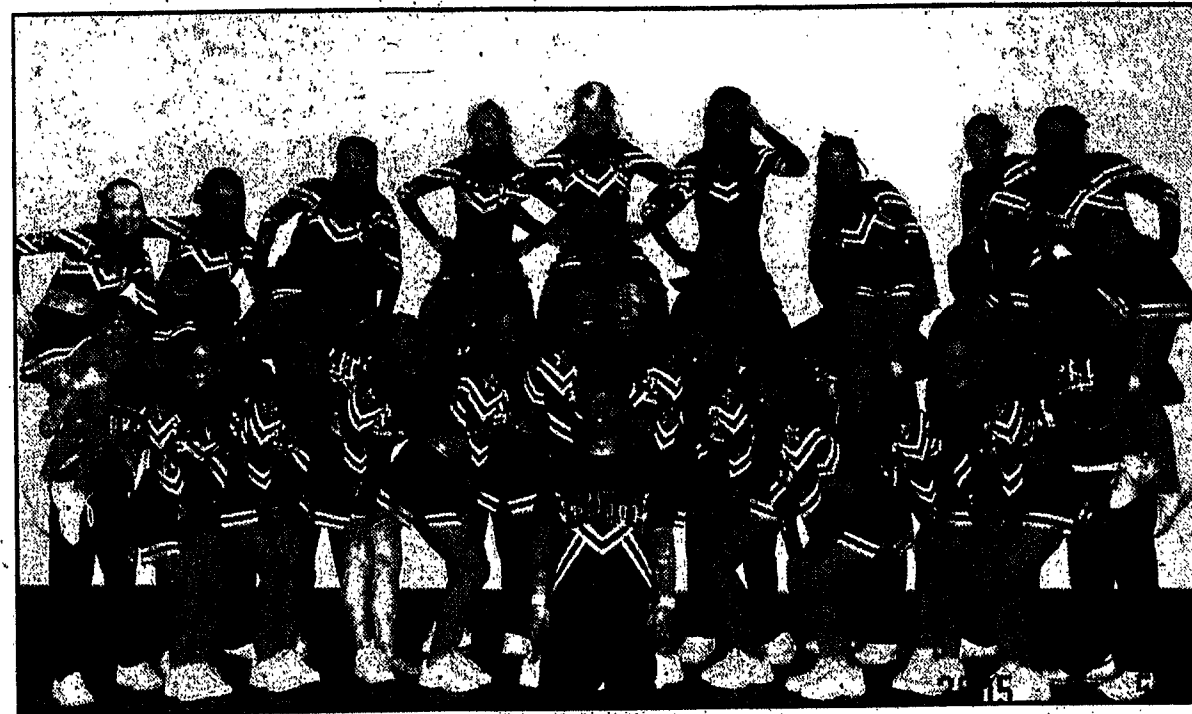

The monthly meeting of the Pass Christian Art Association will be held Saturday, April 16, at 2:00 p.m. in the Community Room of the Pass Christian Library. The guest artist will be Alison Henry of Gulfport who will discuss some of the techniques she uses in her watercolor paintings.

She will have some of her paintings to illustrate her presentation. She loves to paint living things such as animals and flowers and has a really wonderful approach to painting pets. Guests are welcome and there is no charge. For information call Ernie Allison at (228) 452-4188.

ELITE ALL STARS - The Gulf Coast Elite All-star Program from Diamondhead, MS, is comprised of three teams, pee wee, youth, and senior co-ed team. These teams compete locally and travel out of state to compete in regional and national competitions. They recently competed at the Mardi Gras National competition in New Orleans. The teams placed second, fifth and first place on a national level. They also competed in the Worldwide Spirit Association's national competition in which they placed ninth, second, and second. Each team may consist of up to 30 members, male and female, between the ages of 5 through college age. Tryouts for the new season will be held on Saturday, April 30.

Blood drive for 10 year old Allyson Starita-White

During the month of January 2005, 10 year old Allyson Starita-White was diagnosed with Hodgkin's Lymphoma. Chemotherapy and radiation are the standard medical treatments. Ongoing blood transfusions can be needed until Allyson is cured, which could be as long as two years. She is the daughter of Sharon and Scot White and a past student of St. Paul.

The blood drive will be on Sunday, April 17 from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. at St. Paul's School Gym. The goal is 100 blood donations.

To donate blood you must be in good health, at least 17 years of age and weigh a minimum of 110 pounds. There is no upper age limit.

Individuals with high blood pressure or controlled diabetes can now donate. If you have any medical questions or have been out of the country in the last year, call The Blood Center at 1-800-86-BLOOD (862-5663) to verify that you can give before signing up. Please drink a lot of fluids and eat before donating.

April is state 'Partners in Education Month'

Governor Haley Barbour kicked off a monthlong celebration of successful school-community partnerships when he recently proclaimed April 'Partners in Education Month.'

School and community partnerships across the state will celebrate Partners in Education Month through various activities to show appreciation for community partners. 'Partners in Education Month is our way of acknowledging the vital role that community-based organizations have in successful schools. By working with schools, community partners help to connect students to the 'real world' and enhance their potential to succeed in many important ways,' said Linda Ross Aldy, executive director of the Mississippi Association of Partners in Education.

The focus of Partners in Education Month celebrations in schools throughout the state is on expressing appreciation to school partners and providing more opportunities for partners to be involved in school and classroom activities.

The Mississippi Association of Partners in Education's mission is to provide leadership in the formation and growth of effective partnerships that ensure success for all school students.

These activities include:

- Annual Governor's Awards honoring exemplary school-community partnerships.

- Annual Partners in Education State Seminar (The Seminar and Governor's Awards will be held April 14 at the Jackson Marriott Downtown.)

- Consultant services for on-site workshops and training in school-community programming, including a nationally certified trainer.

- Collaboration with the Mississippi Department of Education, the Governor's Office, and other key agencies and organizations.

- Membership privileges and association sponsorships for activities, products, and services.

- Print materials and statewide training in basic elements for establishing community partnerships in local schools.

For more information about Partners in Education Month, contact Linda Ross Aldy at 601-853-3942, E-mail her at linda.aldy@mapie.org, or visit MAPE's Web site, www.mapie.org.

Developing a Loving Relationship

The Bible tells us that "God is Love, and he who abides in love abides in God, and God in him" and that "We love Him because He first loved us" (1 John 4:18, 19). These verses are true not only between our Heavenly Father and us, but also when we are involved with others. Children will develop a love for their parents because of the unselfish love their parents have for them. Also, a wife or husband will develop a stronger love for each other when their love is returned to them. When someone dislikes us or offends us, it is a natural instinct to distance ourselves from them; however, when someone is loving and kind to us, we have a tendency to want to draw closer to them. God's perfect love for mankind is exemplified by His giving of His only begotten Son to die for our sins. And, just as His forgiving love is always extended to us, we should also be forgiving of others. True forgiveness breeds love, and discovering the good in others, and discounting their faults, are essential for developing a loving relationship.

He who does not love does not know God, for God is love.
New K.J.V. 1 John 4:8

Devine restoration makeovers

Reality TV reaches far and wide nowadays, highlighting survival capabilities, family origins and raw situations such as hiring practices. In January of 2005, we here at St. Augustine Church were introduced to a form of reality TV when a friend, Dr. Joyce Jackson, Ph.D., a professor at LSU in Baton Rouge, recommended us to a TV firm.

The TV firm, Divine Restoration, contacted us soon afterward, pursuing frequent communication with us by phone and e-mail. The upshot was the filming of a target weekend for some kind of a makeover in our church engineered by Divine Restoration.

Focusing on an idea which had been kicked around for a handful of years by Drex Brumfield, a parishioner of St. Augustine Church, and the pastor, Father Jerome LeDoux, S.V.D., we selected the old horse stable to be made over into our church archive.

From the dedication of St. Augustine Church in 1842, Father Etienne Rousselon, the first pastor, and the next seven or eight pastors after him did a lot of walking, especially while making sick calls to their parishioners. For the more distant sick calls or other appointments, they resorted to horseback transportation.

That posed a bit of a problem, since the most available land for holding the horses and allowing them to graze was the school yard playground for the girls of St. Augustine Elementary School. However, it was quite obvious that horses and little girls do not mix.

Therefore, Father Joseph Subileau, the sixth pastor of St.

Augustine Church, decided to build a livery in 1912. For this, he selected a space in the west-southwest corner of the rectory patio. As a natural complement to the livery, he had a sizeable horse trough built near the west-northwest corner of the rectory patio.

Reflections on Life

by Father Jerome LeDoux, S.V.D.

Thus, anytime Father Subileau had to get somewhere fast or travel some distance, he had only to walk across the patio, saddle his horse, mount and be on his way.

This classy mode of transportation did not change until well into the 1920s when the automobile, which had been invented over a century before, became affordable and practical. The changeover from horse to car spelled the death of the livery.

For the next 65 years or so, the picturesque horse stable suffered the ignoble fate of becoming a general junk room and a wash room for soiled clothes. Meanwhile, the horse trough became the focal point of the patio with its school of goldfish.

And so by bits and pieces, by fits and starts, the concept of a onetime livery morphing into a St. Augustine/Treme archive was born. The search was soon on for one or more sources of funding to get the idea off the ground, under construction and underway.

Enter Divine Restoration, a television design/documentary show with its purpose of improving the lives of church congregations across North America.

To achieve this, Divine Restoration chooses churches with a specific project which can be essentially accomplished within a frenetic 48-hour period of intense concentration and work.

The initial action began when Barbara Boyden, producer, and Ian Burns, renovation producer, came to St. Augustine Church from Canada with a critical eye to scout the St. Augustine campus and to survey the junk-filled onetime livery in particular.

After a lapse of a couple of weeks, Glace Lawrence, a congenial, hard-working, gregarious understudy, flew into town as the forerunner of the Divine Restoration project at St. Augustine Church. Her advent marked the beginning of the live part of the venture.

Having endeared herself to everyone within hours, Glace began to put in place all the basic components of the project. From the Monday of her arrival to Thursday when most of the Divine Restoration crew descended upon St. Augustine Church, she paved the way for the return of Barbara Boyden and Ian Burns with their cohorts.

Immediately, the crew established their aerie in the church sacristy and storage room, moving in all their camera equipment and other provisions. From that base of operations, they fanned out to all points of interest on the campus, particularly the erstwhile livery.

Initial interviews with various members of St. Augustine Church were soon underway and workmen were positioned to start on the ceiling and walls of the livery which had been completely cleared of its interminable junk during the previous two weeks.

Friday signaled the real onslaught of the workers on the livery, prepping and taping the ceiling and the walls for sheetrock, cutting an ancient, huge 4" x 12" longleaf pine beam for shelving, for a stained glass window base and for bracing parts of the wall.

Dry wall and related work which are normally accomplished over a longer cycle of days were telescoped into the absolute deadline of 48 hours.

Although work ceased late Friday evening, it resume with a non-stop, dead-end vengeance on Saturday.

Banned from the work premises in order that I would be surprised by the finished job, I heard the whining of a power saw, the explosive strokes of a hammer, and the shouts of the workers toiling like excited bees far into the wee hours of Sunday morning.

Strange that the Sunday gospel reading was the story of Thomas who refused to believe until he had put his finger into the nail prints and his hand into the side of Jesus.

At least three of the people involved in the project expressed doubt that we could pull it off. Just give each one of them Thomas as their doubting middle name.

In the midst of such frenetic action, tempers flared off and on, and it did seem that the desired finish of the project was in doubt, especially when tired workers had gone home about five in the morning, leaving the wrap-up parts of the job undone.

However, a handful of Divine Restoration crew members made the scene about an hour later and hung with the work until they were ready for "The Reveal" as they call it. Originally slated for just after twelve noon, "The Reveal" was delayed two hours.

This allowed the crew to put the finishing touches on the livery makeover. Although St. Augustine Church members managed to supply only two volunteer workers, the spirit of the singular project excited and delighted everyone and brought them closer together.

Divine Restoration films everything, including several interviews, and airs the makeover show some six months later on cable TV 1 in the United States. Thank God for them and for the Godly, fascinating, gratifying, useful work they are doing.

Scripture Says

By Ed Young

The Gospel of Christ

How did the Gospel of Christ have such remarkable results in a Roman culture that was infused with atheism?

The Romans had recently acquired a world wide empire. They lived in riches and luxury. The Jewish fishermen were influencing the nation with the teachings of Jesus. The Romans were asked to worship the crucified one who was from Judea. Moreover, the teachers proclaimed an ascetic live to men who were used to luxury and concerned with material comforts. Most Christians who proclaimed the gospel were poor and common men of no notable family. But none of these things hindered the progress of the gospel. In spite of the Roman sword, the Christian movement was lead by the Holy Spirit, who never loses a battle.

Eventually the early church fathers would gather in Rome and establish the Christian doctrine, which is recognized this present day.

This writer is in the belief that what is taking place in Iraq today is the doors to a non-Christian country.

The gospel has been hidden from that land for 800 years. The men and women who have died there will not be in vain.

Building a friendship with God Almighty

What does it mean to know God? It's not popular to put it this way, but knowing God depends upon God's prior knowledge of you. The apostle Paul tells Christians, "You have come to know God, or rather to be known by God" (Galatians 4:9). Paul wants to make sure we realize that to be known by God is of utmost importance. In another place, Paul says, "If anyone loves God, he is known by Him" (1 Corinthians 8:3). This is amazing. It seems really loving God also depends on God's prior knowledge of us. Being known by God also carries with it eternal significance. Jesus exclaims, "Not every one who says to Me, 'Lord, Lord,' will enter the kingdom of heaven" (Matthew 7:22).

Why? Won't casual confession of "Christ as Lord" (Romans 10:9) be of benefit at the judgment? Apparently not. Christ's response could be, "I never knew you" (Matthew 7:23). You need to be known by God. You need to be known by God as a friend. Abraham "was called the friend of God" (James 2:23). God revealed Himself to His friend Abraham. What a wonderful way to get to know God.

Will God disclose Himself to you? He has taken the first step by revealing Himself in Jesus Christ. You need to investigate this Jesus as revealed by God in the Bible.

Best Pawn

Since 1994 Best Pawn and Jewelry had been located, next to the Post Office in Bay St. Louis. However, the business had outgrown its former location and to better serve the needs of their valued customers, owners Phil & Terri Webb made the decision to move to their present location 1100A Highway 90, corner of Washington and Highway 90 in Bay St. Louis. Hundreds of pieces of merchandise are available on the huge sales floor. Jewelry, electronics, tools, sporting equipment & more are offered at incredible savings. If you need cash, don't worry! Best Pawn is ready to loan you money on anything of value with no credit check and no hassle. Best Pawn is the only Hancock County payment agent for Bell South. When you pay your phone bill at Best Pawn, you receive immediate credit on your account. Get your next money order at Best Pawn and pay no fee, just the actual amount of the money order. Spencer, the full time jeweler at Best Pawn, is available for all your jewelry repair.

Come visit us & take advantage of the great deals at Best Pawn. Now through the end of the year, take advantage of the fine jewelry liquidation sale. We're overstocked and no reasonable offer will be refused!

Best Pawn is open Mon. - Fri. from 8 - 6 & Sat. from 8 - 4. For more information visit their website at www.BestPawn.com or call 467-777

Family Best Bets

Sunday

9 p.m. on 19-PBS
Colonial House

Three families and seven individuals hypothetically are sent back in time to visit New England as it was in 1628. They must learn to survive in conditions that don't include plumbing, convenient stores, nearby doctors and modern medicine. But they do get to deal with hard work and cooking from scratch.

Movie:

The Nightmare Before Christmas

And you thought it was disconcerting to see Christmas decorations in the stores at Halloween! This surreal 1993 animated fantasy from Tim Burton ("Edward Scissorhands") takes the overlapping holiday scenario to the extreme. The Pumpkin King, ruler of Halloween Town, hatches a plan to kidnap Santa Claus and put his own ghostly spin on the yuletide season. Danny Elfman, Chris Sarandon and Catherine O'Hara supply the voices.

Movie: The Majestic

The often-maniac Jim Carrey continued his efforts to broaden his screen image in director Frank Darabont's ("The Green Mile") gentle 2001 drama about a screenwriter whose career is impacted by the 1950s Hollywood blacklist. Left amnesiac by a car crash, he then wanders into a town where the locals believe him to be a long-lost war hero. Laurie Holden ("The X-Files") and Martin Landau co-star.

12 p.m. and HBO

Movie: Scoby-Doo 2: Monsters Unleashed

A blast from the past disrupts the opening of a museum for the costumes of the "ghosts" and "monsters" Mystery Inc. has exposed over the years. The uninvited guest is a pterodactyl ghost, something Scooby and company have seen before. The costume's original wearer is dead now, but his old cellmate may know something. Freddie Prinze Jr., Sarah Michelle Gellar, Linda Cardellini, Matthew Lillard and Seth Green star in this 2004 comedy.

Friday

7 p.m. on FAM

Movie: Sixteen Candles

Molly Ringwald shines in this touching 1984 comedy as Samantha, whose family forgets her 16th birthday in all the excitement surrounding her sister's wedding. Compounding her adolescent angst is the fact that the guy she likes is ignoring her, and the king of the geeks is in hot pursuit. Michael Schoeffling, Anthony Michael Hall, Carlin Glynn and Paul Dooley also star, with Gedde Watanabe as an exchange student.

Saturday

10:30 a.m. on HALL

Movie: That Darn Cat

This 1965 Disney adventure features Hayley Mills as the owner of a feline with a nose for danger. When kitty comes home wearing evidence belonging to a missing woman, Patti (Mills) lets her imagination run wild. She hooks up with a detective (Dean Jones) to find the kidnapping victim. Roddy McDowall co-stars.

TV Trivia

Constance Marie ("George Lopez") played the mother of Jennifer Lopez's character in "Selena" though she is only a year older than Lopez.

Rachel Skarsten ("Virginia's Run") graduated from Toronto's Claude Watson School for the Arts and is fluent in Norwegian.

Tony Danza ("The Tony Danza Show") earned a degree in history education from the University of Dubuque in Iowa.

Kyra Sedgwick ("Secondhand Lions") is a New York native who made her acting debut at age 16 on the soap opera "Another World."

Brian Krause ("Charmed") considered a career in sports medicine before playing semipro soccer, but he quit sports to act.

6 p.m. on 38-WB
Charmed

A demon attack leaves Piper (Holly Marie Combs) in a coma in the series' 150th episode, "The Seven Year Witch." As her spirit lingers between life and death, she meets Cole (guest star Julian McMahon), the departed ex-husband of her sister Phoebe (Alyssa Milano). He explains that his missions are to keep Piper and Leo (Brian Krause) together and help Phoebe learn to believe in love again. Rose McGowan also stars.

6:30 p.m. on 8-FOX on 25-FOX
Malcolm in the Middle

Dan Butler ("Frasier") guest stars as a man whom Malcolm (Frankie Muniz) finds living in the Lucky Aide. The two strike a deal: Malcolm will keep his secret if he provides some information on a fellow store worker Malcolm has a crush on. Reese (Justin Berfield), who's working as an exterminator, plans to infest a neighbor's yard with caterpillars, but decides to keep them instead in the new episode "Butterflies."

7 p.m. on 26-ABC on 13-ABC
Extreme Makeover: Home Edition

In "Broadbent Family," Ty Pennington and his team build a new house for social worker-turned-

AIDS activist Patricia Broadbent and her three HIV-positive adopted daughters. Patricia is in treatment for lung cancer and wanted a better home for her daughters in the event she isn't around much longer. The team replaces the family's 1,450-square-foot house with a bigger dwelling — complete with a piano donated by Elton John.

8 p.m. on 26-ABC on 13-ABC
Desperate Housewives

Lesley Ann Warren guest stars as Susan's (Teri Hatcher) mother, who drops by after breaking up with her boyfriend (guest star Bob Newhart), in the new episode "Children Will Listen." Carlos (Antonio Chavira) is angry with Gabrielle (Eva Longoria) over the settlement. Bree (Marcia Cross) baby-sits Lynette's (Felicity Huffman) children and gets the cold shoulder from her for disciplining Porter (Shane Kinsman).

8 p.m. on 4-CBS
Movie: High Crime

First teamed in "Kiss the Girls," Ashley Judd and Morgan Freeman reunite in this 2002 drama. Judd plays an attorney shocked when her husband (Jim Caviezel) is arrested for alleged actions under another identity. He is accused of having massacred Latin American villagers while he was a U.S. Marine. To clear him, his wife enlists a supposedly second-rate investigator (Freeman). Amanda Peet co-stars.

8 p.m. on 6-NBC
Law & Order: Criminal

The vicious murder of a stripper leads Goren and Eames (Vincent D'Onofrio, Kathryn Erbe) to a reclusive man (guest star Neil Patrick Harris) who has a serial pattern of finding — and keeping — female company in "Want." Goren's bosses take a harder line than he does on the intended prosecution of the suspect.

9 p.m. on 6-NBC
Crossing Jordan

Actress-comedian Sandra Bernhard guest stars in "You Really Got Me" as a detective who helps Bug (Ravi Kapoor) investigate a vagrant's death. He has a special interest in the case because he saw the man being kidnapped. Jordan (Jill Hennessy) heads west with Woody (Jerry O'Connell) after finding evidence that may indicate a man she helped send to California's death row years ago may be innocent.

9:02 p.m. on 26-ABC on 13-ABC
Grey's Anatomy

Competition is in the air in the new episode "Winning a Battle, Losing the War," as a bicycle race brings all sorts of injured patients into the ER, and the interns vie for a chance to treat the worst cases. Derek and Burke (Patrick Dempsey, Isaiah Washington) are in their own competition—for the chief resident's job. George (T.R. Knight) is the object of a patient's flirtation. Ellen Pompeo also stars.

7 p.m. on 26-ABC on 13-ABC

My Wife and Kids

Michael (Damon Wayans) rushes to make his favorite sandwich in time to catch a plane, but family interruptions delay the project, not to mention his arrival at the airport. Then, to add insult to injury, the sandwich is subjected to a security search. Tisha Campbell-Martin and George O. Gore II also star in the new episode "Michael's Sandwich."

7 p.m. on 4-CBS

NCIS

Gibbs (Mark Harmon) and his colleagues investigate the apparent suicide of a petty officer who had been hospitalized for a nervous breakdown and claimed she was being stalked. According to Ducky (David McCallum), however, this was no suicide. The team uncovers a love triangle involving her commanding officer, who was under investigation for taking kickbacks. Joe Spano guest stars in the new episode "Conspiracy Theory."

7 p.m. on 38-WB

Gilmore Girls

In "Wedding Bell Blues," Emily and Richard (Kelly Bishop, Edward Herrmann) decide to renew their wedding vows with an elaborate, elegant ceremony. But first, she'll have to get through the "bachelorette" party that Lorelai and Rory (Lauren Graham, Alexis Bledel) insist on throwing. David Sutcliffe also stars.

7:30 p.m. on 26-ABC on 13-ABC

George Lopez

Eva La Rue ("All My Children") guest stars as George's (George Lopez) long-lost sister, Linda Lorenzo, an attractive woman who quickly catches the eyes of Emilio and Vic (Valente Rodriguez, Emiliano Diaz). They both ask his permission to go out with her, and George considers granting it... for a price. Constance Marie also stars in the new episode "George's Relatively Bad Idea."

8 p.m. on 6-NBC

Scrubs

Turk (Donald Faison) takes J.D. and Carla (Zach Braff, Judy Reyes) to decide between themselves who's responsible for their kiss. The "winner" gets the silent treatment from him. Dr. Cox (John C. McGinley) asks Elliot (Sarah Chalke) for help with a patient (guest star Sarah Ramos). Janitor (Neil Flynn) is distressed to discover his new uniform isn't as intimidating as the old one in the new episode "My Big Move."

8 p.m. on 54-UPN

Veronica Mars

Little Randy Taylor a mad bomber? Say it isn't so. Jonathan Taylor Thomas ("Home Improvement") guest stars as a new Neptune High student, whom Veronica (Kristen Bell) puts on her list of suspicious characters as she investigates a series of bomb threats at school. Keith (Enrico Colantoni) drops a bomb on his own regarding his love life. Joey Lauren Adams also guest stars in the new episode "Weapons of Class Destruction."

8:30 p.m. on 6-NBC

The Office

As the downsizing talk continues, Michael (Steve Carell) throws a birthday party for Meredith (Kate Flannery) as a morale booster, even though her birthday is a month away. Dwight and Jim (Rainn Wilson, John Krasinski) team up "Survivor"-style in an effort to protect themselves from the ax. Michael pledges $25 to a charity walk — then realizes he's pledged $25 per mile. Jenna Fischer also stars in the new episode "Alliance."

9 p.m. on 4-CBS

Judging Amy

A 15-year-old, angry with his mother for hitting his dog, beats the woman with a baseball bat and locks her in the basement. Now he's in front of Amy (Amy Brenneman), who tries to find some way of keeping him from being tried as an adult. Maxine (Tina Daly) wrestles with a decision about the fate of an autistic child whose welfare might be in jeopardy at home in the new episode "Revolutions Per Minute."

9 p.m. on 26-ABC on 13-ABC

Blind Justice

A Korean grocer is murdered, the killer escapes, and it's Dunbar's (Ron Eldard) fault. He tries to make amends for the blunder as he gets a dressing-down from the chief of detectives for pulling out his gun in public in the new episode "Seoul Man." Marisol Nichols, Frank Grillo and Michael Gaston also star.

9 p.m. on 6-NBC

Law & Order: Special Victims Unit

Mary Stuart Masterson guest stars in "Weak," as a psychiatrist who helps Benson and Stabler (Melissa Hargitay, Christopher Meloni) investigate a series of assaults. One of the victims is a patient of hers who has schizophrenia. The detectives find a likely suspect, but the evidence is telling conflicting stories.

Wednesday Best Bets

7 p.m. on 38-WB

Smallville

Lex (Michael Rosenbaum) is split in two by a kryptonite explosion in the new episode "Orion." His newly freed evil twin, Alexander, looks him up, attacks Clark and Chloe (Tom Welling, Allison Mack), and persuades Lionel (John Glover) to come back to the dark side. As if that weren't enough, he insists Lana (Kristin Kreuk) move in with him, or he'll close the town.

7 p.m. on 54-UPN

America's Next Top Model

Negative attitude from one contestant causes host Tyra Banks to lose it in the new episode "The Girl Who Pushes Tyra Over the Edge." The girls practice their acting by doing a scene with model-turned-actor Boris Kodjoe ("Soul Food"), who also serves as a guest judge. Another coeducational close-up: a lingerie shoot with male model Rib Hillis. It's a stressful experience for some.

7:30 p.m. on 8-FOX on 25-FOX

Stacked

The title of this new sitcom refers to the setting, not the star — no, really. Shelves full of books are called stacks. Pamela Anderson plays party girl Skyler Dayton, who wants a more meaningful life. She takes a job in a family-owned bookstore, where her co-workers are two brothers (Eli Gold, Brian Scolaro) and a cynical young female clerk (Marissa Jaret Winokur). Christopher Lloyd plays a regular customer.

8 p.m. on 4-CBS

The King of Queens

A distracted store clerk neglects to charge Carrie (Leah Remini) for a digital music player, and she just takes the freebie and runs. Later, however, she ducks into a church to get out of a snowstorm, and guilt sets in. Doug (Kevin James) tries to talk a young stranger out of letting his father-in-law move in. Jerry Stiller also stars in the new episode "Ice Cubed."

8 p.m. on 38-WB

Jack & Bobby

In the new episode "Friends With Benefits," Jack (Matt Long) is depressed to discover that Bobby (Logan Lerman) is going out for track. Then Jack realizes that he misread some signals about his relationship with Katie (Kate Mara). Another blow comes when he sees Courtney and Marcus (Jessica Pare, Edwin Hodge) growing closer. Grace's (Christine Lahti) relationship with Tom (Bradley Cooper) costs her a chance to speak at an event honoring her mentor.

8 p.m. on 8-NBC

Revelations

Brought together by tragedy, a scientist and a nun (Bill Pullman, Natasha McElhone) discover evidence that the end of the world, as told in the Bible, is near. His scientific mind and her faith join forces in an effort to forestall the final confrontation between the forces of God and the devil. This six-hour miniseries also stars Michael Massee ("24") as one of Satan's lieutenants, John Rhye-Davies and rocker Fred Durst also appear.

8:01 p.m. on 26-ABC on 13-ABC

Alias

Isabella Rossellini returns as Sydney's (Jennifer Garner) aunt, Katya Deravko, who has some upsetting news about the death of Sydney's mother. Vaughn (Michael Vartan) steals a device that he hopes to use as leverage in getting at the truth about his father. Victor Garber, Ron Rifkin, and Carl Lumbly also star in the new episode "Pandora."

8:30 p.m. on 4-CBS

Yes, Dear

It's not very pretty when a lemon tree comes between Jimmy and Greg (Mike O'Malley, Anthony Clark). The tree is in Jimmy and Christine's (Liza Snyder) new back yard, and he wants to cut it down. Greg, however, has been using it for shade and plucking the fruit to flavor his tea. So he's not happy with Jimmy's plans. Neither wants to budge, and the feud soon turns childish in the new episode "Tree Hugger."

9 p.m. on 6-NBC

Law & Order

The new episode "Tombstone" begins a story that concludes Friday on "Law & Order: Trial by Jury." Fontana and Green (Dennis Farina, Jesse L. Martin) investigate the murder of a lawyer who was rather generous with her sexual favors. One co-worker (guest star Paul Fitzgerald) becomes their prime suspect because he was in the office at the time. McCoy (Sam Waterston) must take drastic action after the evidence is thrown out and a new crime is committed.

9:02 p.m. on 26-ABC on 13-ABC

Eyes

A valuable jet prototype is stolen, and the firm's investigation uncovers some unsavory secrets about the owner's family. Meg (A.J. Langer) works for free to help a friend who's found some stolen money. Harlan (Tim Daly) deals with his estranged wife's (guest star Kate Walsh) return to Los Angeles. Garcelle Beauvais-Nilon and Laura Leighton also star in the new episode "Wings."

Movie: Mr. Deeds

Adam Sandler reworks the film classic "Mr. Deeds Goes to Town" to fit his comedic persona in this 2002 update. He plays a "bumpkin" who inherits a media empire and leaves his pizza parlor to assume a more lavish lifestyle. Of course, there are people determined to get him out of the picture as quickly as possible. Winona Ryder appears as a TV reporter who wants to do a story on him; John Turturro is a riot as Deeds' new manservant.

7 p.m. on 26-ABC on 12 ABC

8 Simple Steps

8 Simple Rules
Bridget (Kaley Cuoco) is in detention on Ditch Day, thanks to C.J. (David Spade), whom Gibb put in charge as punishment for telling Bridget about his relationship with Cate (Kaley Sagal). Now she can't participate in the traditional prank — stealing a rival school's mascot — so she persuades Kerry and Rory (Amy Davidson, Martin Spanjers) to do the deed. Nicole

Richie ("The Simple Life") guest stars in the season finale, "Ditch Day."

3.0 m at 1.050

7 p.m. ON 4-CBS

Joan (Amber Tamblyn) has reason to regret her chilly behavior toward Adam (Christopher Marquette) when he disappears during a hike. A priest (guest star Michael Badalucco) tells Helen (Mary Steenburgen) that the man who raped her 25 years ago is dying and wants to see her. Luke (Michael Welch) discovers Friedman (Aaron Himelstein) is using drugs in the new episode "Common Thread."

7:30 p.m. on 38-WB

Living With Fran

The new episode "The Ex Factor" reunites star Fran Drescher with her TV boss-turned-spouse from "The Nanny," Charles Shaughnessy. Here, he plays her character's ex-husband, who comes back looking for another chance with the family. He tries to patch things up with Josh (Ben Feldman), showers Allison (Misti Traven with presents and even offers Riley (Ryan McPartlin) a job. His ex, though, fears he'll just hurt the kids again.

8 p.m. on 6 NBO

Third Match

Third Watch
Her investigation of a woman's death leads Cruz (Tia Texada) into the world of Santería in the new episode "Welcome Home." She meets a practitioner who not only seems to know about her health issues but gives her a vision of her dead sister. Carlos (Anthony Ruivivar) learns more than he wanted to about Levine's (Yvonne Jung) family during a trip to Virginia. Yokas (Molly Price) confronts Bosco (Jason Wiles) about his eyesight.

8:30 p.m. on 26-ABC on 13-ABC

Less Than Perfect
After Claude (Sara Rue) helps reconcile Jeb and Lydia (Patrick Warburton, Andrea Parker), the happy couple decide to get married at Denny's, which happens to have a minister waiting tables. Claude's relationship skills don't translate well to her own life, unfortunately. She encourages Charlie (Josh Braaten) to try out for a band, and he gets in ... and goes on the road. Sherri Shepherd also stars in the season finale, "Claude the Expert."

9 p.m. on 4-CBS

NUMB3RS
Lou Diamond Phillips guest stars as an expert on snipers; whom Don (Rob Morrow) summons to help catch a mysterious gunman at large in Los Angeles. His presence causes Charlie (David Krumholtz) some insecurity about his own role as a special FBI consultant, but the visitor teaches him that certain cases call for more psychology than math. Judd Hirsch also stars in the new episode "Sniper Zero."

9 p.m. on 6 NBO

Law & Order: Trial by Jury
The new episode "Skeleton" concludes the story begun on Wednesday's "Law & Order." Kibria (Rebe-

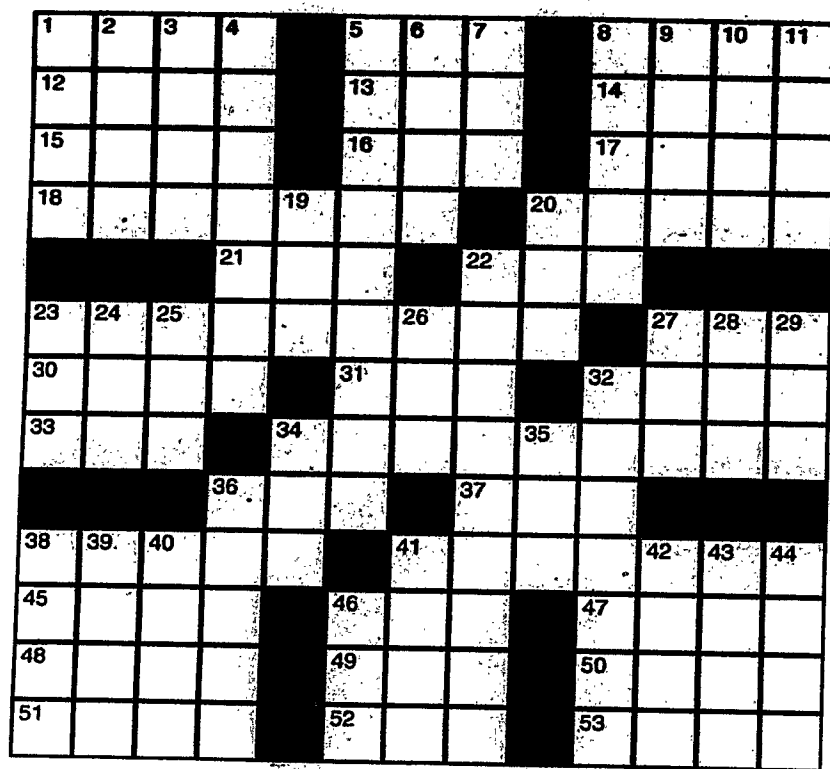

Bob Morrow

Rob Morrow works with Detective Fontana (Dennis Farina) on the investigation of a career criminal (guest star Ritchie Coster) suspected of shooting an ex-cop and a detective. Where things turn bad in court, Kibre's case and her career hinge on finding the motive for the crimes. Richard Belzer ("Law & Order: Special Victims Unit") also guest stars.

[illegible]

In Focus

Food Network is poised to launch its next star of the kitchen, and one who shows viewers how to make the most of their food budgets, as the series "Good Deal With Dave Lieberman" premieres Saturday, April 16.

Also the author of the new cookbook "Young & Hungry: Making the Most of Fresh and Affordable Food," Lieberman watches the wallet while offering practical advice. Formerly the host of the Yale University show "Campus Cuisine," he aims to help people eat better for less.

Culture shock is in store for the 10 people transported from city life to a small Texas town - population 936 - as Jonathan Torrens serves as host of "Popularity Contest," an unscribed Country Music Television series premiering Monday, April 11.

The participants switch every three days to different host families, who have a big stake in how things turn out. The locals also can win a portion of the grand prize, depending on which contestant ultimately is named "most popular."
